PROGRAM NOTE

As the beauty, calm and serenity of Christmas Eve travels across the globe each year, the musical celebrations of this holy night show the similarities and differences in the cultures of our world. Celtic Holy Night is a unique musical setting celebrating the holiday in the British Isles. Historically, the term "Celtic" is commonly used in connection with the languages and cultures of the six Celtic nations, specifically Brittany, Ireland, Scotland, Wales, Cornwall, and the Isle of Man. We hope you enjoy our performance of Celtic Holy Night arranged by Robert W. Smith.

NOTES TO CONDUCTOR

The grace notes throughout should be interpreted in a more relaxed fashion to emulate the sound of the bagpipes as they begin their drone. Should you use the trumpet to play the oboe cues in the introduction, please consider using a straight mute in the trumpet solo for a more stylistically accurate blend with the piccolo.

If the bodhran is used in the percussion section beginning in measure 7, please stage the percussionist for musical presence and visual effect. The flutes accompany the bodhran beginning in measure 9. These figures should be jig-like in their interpretation.

The clarinet melody beginning at measure 11 should be very legato. It should float among the rhythmic interaction provided by the bodhran and flutes. The low reeds provide a bagpipe effect beginning at measure 20. If the low brass are employed with the notated cues, please be sure they do not overshadow the melodic line. You may wish to use only one player on a part if the cues are employed.

Please note the crescendo into measure 29. This should be carefully shaped for maximum effect. The horns and alto saxophone countermelody at 29 should soar. Please adjust the notated dynamic marking based on your particular instrumentation.

The jig-like figures continue at measure 43. Please work to balance the interacting lines providing a rhythmic active accompaniment to the brass melody beginning at measure 45.

The overall dynamic contour of the arrangement leads to the fortissimo at measure 77. Please ensure the ending statement beginning at 77 is the pinnacle of the arrangement. Adjust previous dynamic levels as needed based on your instrumentation.

I hope you and the band find Celtic Holy Night to be a rewarding musical experience and valuable addition to your holiday program. Happy Holidays to all!
